

I oppose loosening the rules designed to promote and protect diversity of media ownership. These rules were adopted to ensure that the public would receive a diverse range of viewpoints from the media, and not simply the opinions of a handful of media conglomerates. The cable ownership cap is a crucial element of our democratic media, and it should not be weakened.

Do NOT loosen the rules that protect citizens against huge media conglomerates becoming media monopolies. During this time of war and uncertainty, we need diverse viewpoints and varied perspectives, and has long-term effects on the status of the Internet as well. Loosening these FCC regulations goes against public interest.
